Businesses Step Up To Help Foster Children

A group of Cincinnati-area businesses hosted a June 1 raffle to benefit the local Foster Child Enrichment Council. Camargo Trading Company (Meggan Sulfsted) and Cincy Massage (Suzanne Kennedy) organized Sharing the Parenting: Giving Foster Children the Experiences We Give to Our Own.

The event raised money for an annual "Celebration of Dreams" event celebrating foster children who are graduating from high school and be used to supplement the Council's general fund.

Coffee Please, Frieda's Bakery and Digital Express Printing also sponsored the event, which was held from 9 a.m. to noon at Camargo Trading Company, 7744 Laurel Ave.

Some of the items raffled off: Driving a new BMW for a week, a one-hour massage each month for a year, a $200 skin care package, personal training sessions, an introductory Pilates package, one week of summer camp for children, a beauty basket and several gift certificates.

In addition to the prizes, 20 percent of all sales for the day were donated to the Foster Care Enrichment Council.

The Foster Care Enrichment Council is a volunteer organization that works to enrich the lives of Hamilton County's foster children by paying for fees and equipment for extracurricular activities, toys, admission to community and sporting events, summer camps and school and church trips.
